LETTER

Sir:

This letter confirms the telephone interview of January 13, 2004 with Examiner Milton Cano and Applicant's attorney James D. Ryndak. On July 7, 2003, Applicant filed a seven page Information Disclosure Statement including a 2 page concise explanation of the foreign language documents with a Request for Continued Examination, both of which were filed with a Certificate of Mailing by first class mail. The stamped postcard indicates receipt of the foregoing materials on July 9, 2003. However, sheet 2 of 7 of the Information Disclosure Statement was not initialed by the Examiner. In the telephonic interview with Examiner Cano, on January 13, 2004, Examiner Cano stated that he had located the references listed on sheet 2 of 7 of the July 7, 2003 Information Disclosure Statement as well as sheet 2 of 7 of that document. Consequently, Examiner Cano stated that he would have Examine Paden consider the references listed on sheet 2 of 7 of the July 7, 2003 Information Disclosure Statement.

For the convenience of the Examiner, Applicant submits herewith a copy of sheet 2 of 7 of the July 7, 2003 Information Disclosure Statement, together with a copy of the postcard as stamped by the PTO and copies of the six foreign patent documents listed on page 2 of 7 of the July 7, 2003 Information Disclosure Statement and the 2 page concise explanation of the foreign references that was submitted with the July 7, 2003 Information Disclosure Statement.

In view of the foregoing, all of the art listed on page 2 of 7 of the July 7, 2003 Information Disclosure Statement should be considered without payment of any fee as all of those materials were timely submitted with the filing of the RCE on July 7, 2003.

Respectfully submitted,

James D. Ryndak

CONCISE EXPLANATION OF RELEVANCE OF NON-ENGLISH LANGUAGE DOCUMENTS

Applicant provides the following explanation of relevance of the non-English language documents to the extent the foreign language document is understood or as otherwise indicated.

1. Belgian Patent No. BE 904.631 -- Based on the English abstract, this patent appears to disclose a process and apparatus for the production of cakes of cereal which is cooked under pressure in a mold and then allowed to expand.
2. Belgian Patent No. BE 902.360 -- Based on a review of FIGS. 1-9, this patent appears to disclose a device for making a food product.
3. Belgian Patent No. BE 893.770 -- Based on a review of FIGS. 1-6, this patent appears to depict a device for making a food product.
4. Belgian Patent No. BE 886.895 -- Based on a review of FIGS. 1-3, this patent appears to depict a device for making a food product.
5. Belgian Patent No. BE 799.316 -- Based on a review of the English abstract, this patent appears to disclose a device wherein measured quantities of cereal mixture are dispensed onto the top of a vertically oscillating ram piston which then carries the portion upwards into a mold cavity in which it is cooked. A rapid downward kick of the ram allows the rapid expansion or puffing of the product.
6. Belgian Patent Publication No. 1000927A6 -- Based on review of Figures 1-10, this reference appears to disclose an apparatus for the production of cereal cakes which are cooked under pressure in a mold and then allowed to expand.

7. Japanese Patent Application No. JP 63116647 – Based on a review of the English abstract, this patent discloses a method for heating a rice cake between upper and lower heating plates, pressing the cake, releasing the pressure for inflating the cake, and baking the flat rice cake.

8. WIPO Patent No. 90/08477 – Based on a review of the English abstract, this patent appears to disclose a device for the preparation of pressure-cooked and subsequently expanded cereal-based food products.

9. WIPO Patent No. WO 89/06092 – Based on a review of the English abstract, this patent appears to disclose a device for manufacturing products based on cereals pressure-cooked in a die punch mold and then puffed by opening the elements of the mold.
